Colourful examination and protective gloves

It's all about the colour!

Our examination and protective gloves made of nitrile rubber are colourful. They are now available in many different colours in our medi-inn® CLASSIC product line. They are comfortable to wear, have good tactile sensitivity and their finger-textured surface ensures optimum grip. Thanks to their resistance to oils and greases, our nitrile gloves are also ideally suited for use in the food industry. The good protection against solvents, chemicals, bacteria and viruses enable them to be used in laboratories or in the medical sector. The disposable gloves are ideal for users with natural latex intolerance, as they are free of allergy-causing latex proteins.

Our disposable gloves are ambidextrous and available in the following colours and sizes. Simply choose your favourite colour!
